

What happens to the average global temperature if we halve the annual net emissions of CO₂, today?

It decreases

It stays the same

It keeps increasing